LEO MEYER'S CONDITION.

He Regains Consciousness and Tells of His Fall.

Leo Meyer, of this city, who pitched from the Knickerbocker express train in Muncle Sunday night, regained consciousness yesterday morning. Mr. Meyer was passing from one part of the train to the other and was thrown through an open vestibule door as the train struck a sharp curve nearing the depot. Mr. Meyer states that he had been taking supper in the dining car and was returning to his sleeping berth, when the accident happened. The door to the vestibule had been opened as the train neared the station, and the porter had left the opening momentarily, and during this short time Mr. Meyer was passing. He wore only a skull cap, and his overcoat, grips and other articles were on the train. He had been lying in the snow for more than half an hour with part of his body on the track when a passer-by found him. Officers were notified, and Mr. Meyer was carried to the depot and then taken to the hospital. He had $160 in cash, gold watch and dlamonds on his person, nothing having been disturbed. Mrs. Meyer will remain at Muncie to-day, and her husband will likely be in the hospital several days before he can be brought home. The Indianapolis Fire Insurance Comcany was one of the few companies which 901. The risks insured by this sterling of the territory specified. Representing the growth of the institution is assured.

TO BUILD IT.

Decision Announced at a Conference Held by Them with Mayor Bookwalter.

NEW CONCERN THAT WANTS TO DO

A CO-OPERATIVE BUSINESS.

The new bridge over White river at Washington street to replace the old iron bridge that collapsed will be built by the county. At a conference with the mayor vesterday morning the decision of the commissioners was announced. In view of the emergency which the commissioners recog- Court decision recently made was the end nized to be existing it was deemed best of a long and bitterly contested suit as to to lay aside any legal quibbles which may city in its difficulty.

tled and that no other kind of specifications will be considered for a minute. Commissioners Spafford and McGaughey are with him on that proposition, he states, and members of the County Council are known to hold the same view, Mr. Mc-Gregor says that the most important details of the new structure have been considered and settled. The bridge will have six arches. It will be 390 feet long and eighty feet wide. The street at White bridge will be of sufficient width to handle old bridge. The arches will be laid on wooden piling fifteen inches in diameter them. On the wooden piling a foundation of either concrete or stone will be placed. but Commissioner McGregor states that in all probability no concrete will be used at all and the entire bridge in all its details will be solid stone. PRELIMINARY ESTIMATES.

Preliminary estimates place the cost of the bridge at $100,000. It was believed when the question of the construction of the bridge was brought up first that it could not be built for less than $150,000, but Mr. McGregor, who has made a careful study of the details of stone bridge construction, thinks that estimate is far too high. In part he bases his estimate on the Central-avenue bridge. When it was proposed to build that structure the cost was estimated at from $45,000 to $50,000. Mr. Mc-Gregor held that it could be built for $35,000. The total cost was $34,000

County Surveyor Harry Klaussmann was ordered yesterday to begin the preparation of the plans for the bridge. They will be entirely new. With the exception of Irvington Is Now a Part of the Cityhis figures on the soundings of the river bed none of the plans of the city engineer will be used. The plans it is expected will be completed within a month. It is proposed to ask for bids May 1, and the bridge will be done in all probability Dec. 1. The commissioners issued a call last night for a meeting of the County Council. The meeting will be held in ten daysbelieved, the recommendations of the commissioners and will make the necessary appropriation. Commissioner McGregor states none of the council is opposed to the plan of the county to assist the city and that the members will likely be unanimous in approving the decision of the commis-

The county is well fixed financially, and it is quite probable that no bond issue will be necessary. The commissioners state that there is a fund of $85,000 existing which they may be able to use, paying interest at the rate of 6 per cent.

A LEGAL PROVISION.

There is a legal provision in regard to the borrowing of school funds which states | ton High School will be continued for a that real estate must be the security of all | time. loans of the kind. McGregor holds that the bridge property will be real estate in the sense meant and that the use of the fund will be perfectly regular. However, he states there is now in the county treasury about $100,000 in cash which can be devoted at least in a large measure to the cost of the bridge.

The commissioners believe that some taxpayer will resist the action of the county by bringing a mandamus suit to forbid the use of the county money in city bridge construction. They think, however, that the time has passed for such a protest to committee, yesterday met with his exec- | be effective, and that the work may now proceed without interruption. The county attorney, Mr. Hugg, while still holding to his position that it is out of the range of the commissioners' power to build the bridge, believes on the other hand that in the nature of things authorities may arrogate to themselves powers that are not naturally theirs and that after their acts have been consummated their legality cannot be attacked. If a mandamus suit of the nature stated be brought it is prob-able that it would be defended by City Attorney Joss instead of Mr. Hugg. Indianapolis Street-railway Company will be required to pay a part of the cost. How much that will be has not been decided. The commissioners are in earnest about the whole proposition and declare that the bridge will be built no matter what happens. No small matter will stand in the way, they say. Mr. McGregor, who has urged the cause of the city since the request was first made, is particularly pleased at the formal decision of the com-

Citizens' Co-Operative Company. Another hot water heating company proposes to help solve the problem of warmth and comfort in Indianapolis. The Board of Public Works was asked formally yesterday to grant a franchise to the Citizens'

Heat and Light Company, In the petition submitted to the board it is stated to be the purpose of the promoters of the company to make it co-operative, and the number of shares of stock to be held by any one person will be limited. Every precaution, the petition states, will be taken against the control of the company

Unlike the petition of a similar company filed a few weeks ago, the territory in which the Citizens' Heat and Light Company proproses to operate is specifically set forth. The territory is bounded by Central avenue, Sutherland avenue, Twenty-seventh street, Cornell avenue, Sixteenth street, College avenue and Twenty-second street.

The petition asks that the company be not required to pay anything to the city for the use of the streets and alleys for the reason that it is a co-operative institution entirely and for the benefit of the citizens in the locality mentioned, who have interested themselves in the project. The rate for heating will be, the petition states, 17 cents per square foot for radiating surface used annually and 10 cents per 1,000 watts for electric lighting.

The petition states that as far as possible alleys will be used for the underground pipes and for the poles of the company, and that the utmost care will be observed in tearing up the streets. The work is to be done under the direction of the board if it is so desired. The buildings of the company will be erected near the railroad between Twenty-second and Twenty-fifth streets. Something Doing in the Piano Business!

If you doubt it come to our store most anytime and notice the number of buyers. Our way of doing business-one price in plate figures-coupled with the best planes that can be produced is what gives us the prestige, and is bringing buyers by the score. Just now we are offering some special values in new and used uprights. For particulars call at the store. Don't hesitate to tell us your name when you come. We will not annoy you with calls in the future nor will we urge you to "buy now." We don't believe in doing business
